Residence Life Mission

Learn what
Residence Life
is all about!

The St. Mary's University Office of Residence Life is a department in the Student Development division, and its mission is shaped by Marianist traditions. Our residence halls are communities that help you develop life skills and a sense of personal responsibility. The halls also serve as transitional environments to future roles and service to society.

Shaped by Marianist Traditions

The Marianist family includes members of the Society of Mary, the Daughters of Mary Immaculate, and various communities of lay men and women. Shaping students according to Marianist traditions means educating them as individuals; fostering awareness of personal values and moral responsibility; invoking a dialogical family spirit; and creating a community of faith.

Residence Halls are Communities

Residence halls provide physical environments in which communities can grow. Within the Marianist tradition, a community is viewed as an extended family. The community within the residence halls offers a variety of different relationships among various populations. The St. Mary's community includes and is supported by staff, faculty, administrators, family and friends. Respect for individual differences and an understanding of diversity are key elements in the development of community in the residence halls at St. Mary's University.

Developing Life Skills and Personal Responsibility

Living on campus provides many opportunities to discover and develop one's own gifts and talents. The Residence Life staff works with residents to cultivate these gifts and talents into life skills. Residents will face challenges of personal responsibility as they mature into independent adults. The residence halls provide a challenging yet supportive environment for resident development and growth, embracing the University's academic mission to create students who are intellectual and critical thinkers.

Transitional Environments to Future Roles and Service to Society

The residence halls act as a foundation to a life beyond St. Mary's University. Residents will discover a variety of leadership opportunities that will become essential for future roles. Involvement in service experiences offered to residents will enable them to become integral, contributing members of society.

Residence Life Staff

St. Mary's University is committed to the development of the whole person. The Residence Life staff is comprised of students and professionals who have been trained to provide a community environment in which a student can grow and develop personally and academically.

Residence Life staff members are available at all times of the day to assist residents. A Resident Assistant (RA) is on duty in each hall or area from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. every day, and a professional staff member can be reached through University Police for emergency situations 24 hours a day.

The Office of Residence Life is located on the second floor of the University Center. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. You can leave a message during off-hours at 210-431-4312.

Residence Life Staff

Resident Assistants (RAs)

Several RAs live in each hall or area. They assist students with their needs, plan community-building programs and help enforce community-living policies. RAs are mentors, resources and friends to residents, and they're available to lend a friendly ear. Get to know your RA!

Community Coordinators (CCs)

CCs are upper-classmen students living in First-year Experience halls or themed communities. They help the RAs and hall directors with the implementation of community-building programs specifically designed for first-year students.

Getting Involved in Your Hall

Each hall has a governing council that meets regularly. The Residence Hall Association (RHA) is an organization that represents the voice of each resident living on campus. RHA promotes the welfare and skill development of students by providing opportunities for students to implement campus programs and activities, be elected to legislative positions, and attend various University workshops and conferences across the state and nation.

RHA also sponsors programs and activities requested by residents. Community service activities, contests, movie nights and leadership seminars are just a few of the programs residents can expect. Hall councils are the representative bodies for each hall or residential area. Ask your RA how you can get involved as an officer or member of your hall council. Hall councils discuss policies, hall improvements and community-building activities.

There are no dormitories at St. Mary's University

A dormitory is defined as a large room in which many people sleep. At St. Mary's, we use the term residence halls to talk about the buildings in which our students live. We believe that the hall is a student's "home away from home," and that the concept of a dwelling captures the feeling better than a dormitory.

Housing Policies

The St. Mary's University Student Handbook is posted on the St. Mary's website at www.stmarytx.edu/handbook. Your Guide to Community Living On Campus, with a complete list of community living standards, health and safety information, and hall services, is available on the Residence Life website when you select "Living on Campus" on the left hand column. Every resident is responsible for knowing the information in both the handbook and the policies listed in the guide. Some of our major policies include:

Fire code: It is a fire code violation to pile belongings and/or empty boxes in the hallways. Please be considerate of the space around you as you are moving in. You must evacuate the building when the fire alarm sounds, even if you don't think it's a real fire.

Smoking: All halls are smoke-free. Smoking areas are provided in designated areas near each hall.

Visitation hours: Visitation hours are 10 a.m. to midnight, Sunday through Thursday, and 10 a.m. to 2 a.m., Friday and Saturday. Guests who are members of the opposite sex may visit your room only during visitation hours. Visitation hours are in effect year-round, including summer and periods before and after semesters. Every guest must be escorted by a resident.

Quiet hours: Quiet hours are from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m., seven days a week, and noise levels should be kept to a minimum.

Door propping: To keep your belongings, yourself, family and neighbors safe, never prop hall doors open. Carry your room key and student ID with you at all times, and always lock your room door.

Alcohol: Only residents 21 years and older may possess and consume alcohol in their rooms.

Pets: With the exception of small fish and assistance animals, pets are not permitted in the residence halls or on campus at any time. Fish tanks are allowed but may not exceed 10 gallons.

Hall Information

There are 12 residence halls on campus. Each hall serves a different type of community, and provide a variety of programs and spaces to relax, study, and play. All halls offer smoke-free environments. Here is a list of the halls and a brief description of their unique qualities.

Founders Hall

St. Mary's newest residence hall is a suite-style hall that is the same sex by suite that includes meeting rooms, a large courtyard, lounges for group study sessions, and balconies for a relaxing space with great views. The Biology Living Learning Community, the Political Science Living Learning Community, and Rattlers have HEART are all located on the 3rd floor of Founders Hall.

First-year Experience Halls

Several halls are First-year Experience (FYE) Halls. Each of these halls dedicates its programming and resources to exploring issues faced by freshman students. Upperclassmen students serving as Resident Assistants (RAs) participate in a mentoring relationship with freshman students. Faculty and staff also are encouraged to participate in the FYE Halls. Both Founders Hall and Dougherty Hall offer rooms that have two people to a room, and are connected with another room by a shared bathroom.

Themed and Living Learning Community Options

Connect with students who share interests similar to yours by selecting a themed or living learning option when you apply for on-campus housing. The communities you can choose from include: the Biology Living Learning Community (for those majoring in Biology); the Marianist Leadership Community (for those in the Marianist Leadership Program); the Honors Living Learning Community (for those in the Honors program); the Psychology Living Learning Community (for those majoring in Psychology); Political Science Living Learning Community; the Rattlers Have HEART Community (for students interested in wellness and outdoor recreation); Rowdy Rattlers (spirit and traditions community); and the Science Living Community (for students majoring in the sciences or math). All of these communities provide opportunities for residents to connect both inside and outside the classroom with upperclassmen students, faculty, and staff on campus and off campus to enrich their learning experience at St. Mary's University. Don't miss out on getting involved with one of these groups. There is no additional cost to be a part of a themed living option. To learn more, visit our Residence Life website.

Dougherty Hall

A hall looked back on with great memories from alumni, Dougherty Hall has a rich history and is still one of the coziest and most community oriented spaces on-campus. The Crow's Nest is a unique study lounge space for residents, and each room has a lounge just a few steps outside their door to hang out in. Dougherty Hall is home to the Psychology Living Learning Community and the Rowdy Rattlers community.

Marian Hall

Marian Hall is home to the Science Living Community, housing students from all classifications majoring in the sciences, math, or technology. There are two people to a room that is connected to a second room by a shared bathroom. This hall is near the center of campus offering easy access to dining and recreational facilities.

All halls are equipped with washers and dryers. Use of laundry equipment is included with the price of the room.

Vending Machines

Drink and snack machines are available in most halls/areas.

Cable TV

All rooms are equipped with basic cable. Residents may order additional premium channels from Time Warner, but they will be responsible for all costs associated with cable TV service beyond the basic service provided by the University.

Microwaves are available in each hall/area for student use. We do not provide or rent refrigerators, but you may bring a small one. (See page 10)

Computer Connectivity

The University provides an Internet port for each resident, as well as wireless Internet access available in each residence hall room if the resident's computer has at least the minimum configuration recommended. Room Assignments

Your room assignment will be sent to you by early August and will include your hall name, room number, and roommate's name, if applicable. We encourage students to contact their assigned roommate before moving in to discuss items that each person will bring, and other items that may be important to students as they are preparing to move in.

Temporary Assignments

We attempt to make the best and most comfortable use of all of our spaces on campus. Therefore, if needed at the beginning of the semester, we assign several residents to temporary housing. These residents have first priority for the next available permanent space. Permanent spaces become available as students cancel their room reservations before classes begin and during the first several days of class.

- Temporary housing may be in several halls. Two residents in each room will be the permanent residents, and a third will reside temporarily.
- If you are assigned to a temporary space, it will be noted on your room assignment. We would like to make this situation as pleasant and smooth as possible, so if you have any questions, please contact our office.

Empty Beds and Consolidations

Some double rooms are reconfigured to house three residents. The University reserves the right to assign any empty space in a double or triple room to another student as needed. Students in a double room who are without a roommate may be required to move to vacant spaces to consolidate room usage. All residents should be aware of the possibility of a temporary third roommate during the first few weeks of the semester.

Check-in and Move-in Process

What is “Check-in”? What is “Move-in”?

Check-in is the process that takes place prior to actually moving in one’s belongings. Check-in must be done with a staff member during scheduled check-in dates and times. (See back cover of this booklet)

When checking into the room, the student must fill out a Room Condition Report (RCR), a personal information sheet, and a form stating that he/she will read and abide by all residence hall policies and safety procedures as outlined in Your Guide to Community Living On Campus.

Each resident must complete this process in order to receive room and mail keys. Be prepared for the check-in process to take about 20 minutes.

Please note: Check-in and move-in are separate processes. The check-in process must be completed with a Resident Assistant during one of the designated periods.

When Can I “Move-in”?

Once the check-in process is complete, you may move in your belongings at any time. You must be checked into your assigned residence hall by 10 p.m. on the first day of classes unless you have notified the Office of Residence Life otherwise. If your room is not occupied by that time, your reservation will be canceled, your $100 housing application fee will be forfeited, and you will be charged a penalty of 20 percent of the housing fee.

If your academic program requires arrival on campus before your scheduled time, special exceptions must be arranged in advance through the Office of Residence Life. Please keep in mind you must check in during assigned times. If you plan on arriving earlier than scheduled check-in times, please make accommodation arrangements outside the University.

“Check-in” and

“Move-in”

are different processes.

Your Room

All rooms are furnished with a desk, chair, bed with standard-sized twin mattress, and closet and drawer space for each resident. Each residence hall room has a sink (either in the adjoining bathroom or in the room), window with blinds, basic TV cable service, air conditioning and heat, and Internet connections via an Ethernet port-per-resident and wireless access.
